Recommendations

Concepción has a temperate maritime climate with Mediterranean influence. Its average annual temperature is 9.1 ° C, and the maximum annual temperature commonly reaches 20 ° C. The average summer temperature is 17 ° C, while in winter it gets down to an average of 8 ° C. It is recommended to wear layers of clothing because considering the latitude of the city, the temperature fluctuations are moderate, but vary during the day. This is due to the proximity of Concepción to the Pacific Ocean. Precipitation in the city is present, mostly by rain water, so appropriate clothing is recommended for the periods between May and August where Concepción has the highest level recorded waterfall during the year.
